Key Highlights

Power Corporation of Canada, founded in 1925, is a diversified international management and holding company headquartered in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. Originally established to safeguard Canadian interests in the electricity sector, it has since evolved into a prominent force in the global financial services industry. Over the decades, the company shifted its strategic focus away from utilities and industrial holdings toward financial services, consolidating its operations to better serve markets in North America, Europe, and Asia. Today, Power Corporation primarily operates through its significant holdings in Great-West Lifeco, IGM Financial, and Groupe Bruxelles Lambert (GBL). These businesses span a broad range of financial sectors, including insurance, retirement, wealth management, and investment management. In addition to its core financial holdings, the company also has growing interests in alternative asset management through Sagard and Power Sustainable, which reflect its strategic diversification into private equity, infrastructure, and sustainable investing.
