Key Highlights

The National Bank of Egypt SAE was incorporated in June 1898, making it one of the oldest and most established financial institutions in the Middle East and North Africa. Headquartered in Cairo, Egypt, the bank plays a pivotal role in the Egyptian economy, serving as both a commercial bank and a key financial pillar supporting national development. It operates primarily in the financial services sector, offering a wide range of products and solutions including retail banking, corporate and investment banking, treasury services, and Islamic banking. As Egypt's largest bank in terms of assets, customer deposits, and loan portfolios, the National Bank of Egypt holds a dominant position in the domestic banking sector. The bank serves millions of customers across Egypt through an extensive branch and ATM network, providing financial access to both urban and rural populations. Beyond its strong presence in Egypt, the bank also has a growing international footprint, with branches and representative offices in regions such as the Middle East, Europe, and North America. These global operations support trade finance, foreign investments, and remittance services, particularly for Egyptian expatriates. Through its longstanding legacy, robust financial offerings, and strategic international presence, the National Bank of Egypt remains a cornerstone of the region's banking landscape.
