Key Highlights

Bank of Communications (Hong Kong) Limited is a wholly owned subsidiary of Bank of Communications Co., Ltd., one of China's oldest and largest state-owned commercial banks. Established in January 2018, the Hong Kong entity was incorporated locally to strengthen the bank's offshore presence and to deepen its financial services footprint in one of Asia's leading international financial centers. The bank's headquarters is located in Hong Kong, where it plays a strategic role in supporting cross-border trade, wealth management, and digital banking services between mainland China and global markets. As the largest overseas subsidiary of its parent group, Bank of Communications (Hong Kong) provides a full suite of services including personal banking, corporate and commercial banking, private banking, trade finance, and trustee services. It operates over 40 branches and service outlets across Hong Kong, including a dedicated private banking center and multiple business services centers, ensuring widespread coverage and personalized support for diverse client needs. The bank aligns with its parent company's broader strategic direction, focusing on four key pillars: Trade and Supply Chain Finance, Green Fintech Finance, Wealth Finance, and Inclusive Finance. Through its advanced digital platforms and mobile banking innovations, it aims to drive sustainable development while enhancing customer experience and operational efficiency. Bank of Communications (Hong Kong) Limited not only contributes to the resilience and inclusiveness of the local banking system but also acts as a critical connector between mainland China and international financial markets. With a strong heritage dating back to 1908 through its parent company, Bank of Communications (Hong Kong) upholds a long-standing reputation for financial stability, professionalism, and innovation. Its role continues to grow in importance, particularly as Hong Kong strengthens its position as a global financial and wealth management hub.
