Key Highlights

NRW Bank is the promotional bank of North Rhine Westphalia, Germany's most populous state. Established in 2002 as a public law institution, it is wholly owned by the state and headquartered in Düsseldorf with an additional office in Münster. The bank employs approximately 1600 people and manages a substantial portfolio to support the region's economic and social development. NRW Bank focuses on three main business segments: economy, housing, and infrastructure including municipalities. It provides a wide range of financial products and services such as low interest promotional loans, equity financing, advisory services, and grant administration. The bank supports small and medium-sized enterprises, social and public housing projects, urban development initiatives, environmental and technological innovation, agriculture, education, culture, and sports programs. The institution operates on a competition-neutral basis through partnerships with local banks and savings institutions, ensuring broad access to its services. In addition to promotional activities, NRW Bank performs treasury functions including bond issuance, risk management, and capital market refinancing. Its comprehensive approach makes it a key driver of sustainable growth and infrastructure development in North Rhine Westphalia.
