Key Highlights

Markel Group Inc., founded in 1930, has grown into a diversified U.S.-based holding company with a global footprint across insurance, investments, and operating businesses. Guided by a long-term philosophy often compared to the enduring growth of a redwood tree, the company combines decentralized leadership with shared values known as the Markel Style. Over the decades, its specialty insurance business has remained the core engine, providing the capital foundation that fuels expansion into new businesses and investment opportunities worldwide. The company operates through three integrated financial engines. Its insurance segment underwrites specialty risks through underwriting, program services, and insurance-linked securities platforms. Its investment engine manages capital across fixed-maturity and equity securities, while Markel Ventures owns controlling interests in a wide range of companies across manufacturing, services, construction, technology, and industrial sectors. This diversified system enables the efficient movement of capital to the highest-return opportunities in a tax-efficient manner. In 2024, Markel Group reported total revenues of 16,621 million dollars and operating income of 3,713 million dollars. Insurance earned premiums reached 8,432 million dollars, Ventures contributed 5,120 million dollars in revenue, and net investment income totaled 920 million dollars, supported by an additional 1,803 million dollars in equity portfolio gains. Over the last five years, the company generated an average annual operating income of 2,213 million dollars, reflecting the stability and resilience of its diversified model.
